

2025 SUMMER STUDY

Oxford · Cambridge Paris · Barcelona · New York

O^xBRIDGE ACADEMIC PROGRAMS
by WorldStrides®

Dear Students, Parents, and Teachers,

The first Oxbridge program took place 40 years ago, in Oxford. It was designed to give bright and enthusiastic students an opportunity to do something they could not do at school—spend a month immersing themselves in the topics of their choice, guided by university teachers and creative professionals, using Oxford’s extraordinary resources as an experiential learning tool.

A great deal has changed over the intervening years. The competition for admission to the world’s leading universities has intensified; summer study, once the habit of a minority, has become the standard for almost all students hoping to attend the best universities. Going abroad to study, once reserved for a fortunate few, has become an achievable goal for many.

Oxbridge, too, has changed. That first summer, we welcomed 36 students who chose their courses from a handful of options. Today, we are proud to welcome students from more than 80 countries annually, to programs lasting between a week and a month, across Europe and in the United States. Students can now choose from an array of more than 150 courses, ranging from Aerospace Engineering to Zoology, via disciplines as varied as Culture and Cuisine, Fashion, International Relations, Medicine, or Psychology.

Oxbridge has changed but it has also held fast to its founding principles. As it was in the beginning, the aim of every Oxbridge program is to immerse students in subjects that fascinate them, in small groups, using experiential syllabi that make them fully fledged partners in the learning process, while the town around them becomes their living classroom.

Another founding principle to which Oxbridge has adhered through the years is that classes are taught by university professors and eminent professionals. Our faculty is made up of a dazzling array of researchers and lecturers, Rhodes and Gates scholars, published writers and poets, award-winning photographers and architects. Drawn from the best universities in the world, these exceptional scholars’ brilliance is matched only by the generosity with which they give up their summers to pass their knowledge on to the next generation.

Although we are known for our academic rigor, university-level instruction, and immersive learning, Oxbridge has never promoted knowledge for its own sake. If the past 40 years have taught us anything, it is that good grades alone do not make for personal success. Universities increasingly look beyond grades for evidence of individuality, confidence, and character—the sorts of qualities that can be discovered through challenging experience. By taking students out of their comfort zones, making them confront new ideas and cultures, and allowing them to live and interact with peers from around the world, Oxbridge is precisely one of those experiences.

Oxbridge students undergo a transformation in their sense of self, their capabilities, and where they place learning and creativity in their lives. We look forward to sharing this pivotal experience with new students this summer.

Sincerely,

Richard W. J. Michaelis, DPhil (Oxon)

Richard taught history for 15 years at Oxford University before joining Oxbridge 25 years ago. During his tenure with the organization, he has taught on the Oxford Tradition as well as directed the Paris Teacher Seminar, the Paris Connection, and Oxbridge in Paris. Richard also edited Walter Scott’s Life of Napoleon, which he presented at Scotland’s premier literary festival in 2015, and is now writing a life of François-René de Chateaubriand, the French author and statesman.

Oxbridge Academic Programs is accredited by the Accreditation Service for International Schools, Colleges and Universities (ASIC). Oxbridge has earned Premier status with ASIC for its commendable areas of operation. ASIC accreditation helps students and parents make a more informed choice and will also help a school, college, university, training provider or distance education provider, demonstrate to the international student body that they are a high quality institution.

ASIC is recognised by UKVI in UK, is a member of the CHEA International Quality Group (CIQG) in the USA and is listed in their International Directory, is a member of the BQF (British Quality Foundation) and is an institutional member of EDEN (European Distance and E-Learning Network).

Educational Philosophy

Oxbridge is not an extension to school. Our courses are designed to give bright and enthusiastic students a university-level introduction to topics about which they are passionate. Guided by academics and professionals, students have a unique opportunity to discover subjects as they are taught at university and experienced professionally.

Of course, there is more to Oxbridge than providing a vital foretaste of higher education. Our syllabi are designed to be experiential. Our students engage through argument, debate, and experiment, while turning Oxford, Cambridge, Paris, Barcelona, and New York into classrooms. Lessons take place in world-famous labs and in some of the world's greatest museums and galleries: the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA), the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Louvre, and the Ashmolean. Our students hone their debating skills in Oxford's famous Union, unravel the mysteries of the human genome in Cambridge, and refine their writing skills in the venues that inspired J.R.R. Tolkien, C.S. Lewis, Baudelaire, and Hemingway. They investigate the mysteries of marine life on the shores of the Mediterranean, learn about business and finance on Wall Street, study architecture as they visit Gaudí's masterpieces, confront the manifold challenges of musical theater on Broadway, and discuss philosophy in the cafés in which Sartre argued with Camus.

To make the experience even more meaningful, and to consolidate the learning process, each course culminates in a final performance piece, presentation, portfolio, project, or staged exhibition.

Faculty

Our faculty is drawn from some of the world's leading universities, including Oxford, Cambridge, Yale, Harvard, Columbia, the Sorbonne, the LSE, and Pompeu Fabra. In a typical year, we employ over 25 Rhodes, Gates, Marshall, and Fulbright scholars. Our creative courses, meanwhile, are taught by professionals selected for their talent, experience, and ability to inspire students. Led by these outstanding teachers, working in small groups, our courses immerse students in exciting subjects while helping them discover the spectacular cities and cultures in which they are living.

After the Program

Shortly after the program, all students and their parents receive a comprehensive set of grade reports, presenting their course syllabus and highlighting their specific contributions and achievements. Most of our alumni later ask for additional copies to include in their college applications.

Who attends an Oxbridge program?

Our students come from all over the world. Over the past 5 summers, we have welcomed students from 115 different countries. Some are the highest achievers in their schools, others are still discovering their potential. Whether they come from Australia, Brazil, China, Italy, the Ivory Coast, or the U.S., what unites them is a passion for their subjects, curiosity about discovering new worlds, and openness to diversity. Because of these shared values, and their shared experiences, our students form lifelong friendships across nations and continents.

Where are they now?

Oxbridge programs deliver transformative and immersive educational experiences that help guide students toward extraordinary academic success. Every few years, we reach out to our alumni to update us on their progress. Here are just a few of the top colleges and universities that our graduates have attended. The most recent survey (2019) of 591 alumni, revealed that they had gone on to attend the universities listed below.

An academic team with unparalleled expertise

Pierre-Antoine Vettorello

Oxbridge in Paris | BA, MA Royal Academy of Fine Arts, Antwerp

Pierre-Antoine manages and designs for his own fashion label. His garments seek to mix precision and creativity, poetry, and drama—“Vice” magazine praised them for their “intriguing peeks into a fantastical world.” Pierre-Antoine trained at the Royal Academy in Antwerp and has worked with an array of famous designers, including Zac Posen in New York. He regularly gives lectures on fashion history in museums across Europe.

Dr. Tijn van Winden

Oxbridge in Paris | Doctor of Medicine, Universiteit van Amsterdam

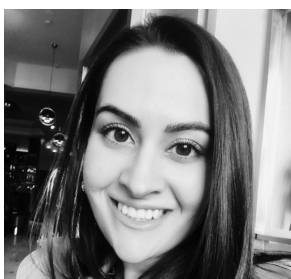

Dr. van Winden teaches human anatomy to first- and fourth-year medical students at the Universiteit van Amsterdam. When he is not teaching, he is conducting research for his PhD on pre-term labor. Dr. van Winden is a regular volunteer at the Children’s Hospital in Amsterdam as well as an avid web designer in his free time.

Dr. Cosima Gillhammer

The Oxford Tradition | MA Ludwig Maximilian University, DPhil University of Oxford

Cosima is a Junior Research Fellow in English Literature at Christ Church, Oxford. She has been working as a Lecturer and Tutor in English and German Literature at various Oxford colleges for more than six years. Her previous positions include Postdoctoral Researcher at the English Faculty at Oxford, Lecturer at LMU, and Research Fellow at the Huntington Library in California. Cosima’s research focuses on fourteenth- and fifteenth-century medieval English texts—in particular translations of the Bible from Latin into Middle English—and she has published and presented widely on these topics.

Dr. Kritika Jerath

The Cambridge Tradition | BA Carleton University, MPhil University of Cambridge, PhD University of Cambridge

Dr. Jerath is a specialist on the use of force in policing and on the various individual, environmental, and situational mechanisms involved in police-citizen altercations. She is a decorated scholar, winning both the Wakefield Scholarship and a Cambridge Commonwealth Trust Scholarship while a student at the University of Cambridge. She is currently a senior lecturer in Criminology and Policing at the University of Derby.

Learn more about our exceptional staff and faculty. To find out who will be teaching in 2025, please contact info@oxbridgeprograms.com.

Dr Chinedu Nwaduru
The Cambridge Tradition | MD University of Ibadan, MSc University of Oxford

A Clarendon Scholar from Nigeria, Dr Nwaduru is currently conducting research at the Nuffield Department of Medicine, in Oxford, on epigenetic changes in autoimmune liver diseases, using both experimental and bioinformatic tools. He was previously a Senior House Officer at St Nicholas, in Lagos, and is working towards specializing in transplant surgery.

Dr Douglas Brand OBE
The Oxford Tradition | BA Birkbeck College, University of London, MSc University of Cambridge

A 20-year veteran of the Metropolitan Police, former Assistant Chief Constable, and one of two policemen sent to Iraq in 2003 to rebuild the national police force, Dr Brand is pursuing his professional career as a senior advisor on policing, governance, and rule of law in fragile, emerging-from-conflict, and developing states, mainly in Africa and the Middle East.

Harry Begg
The Oxford Seminar | MA University of Oxford, MSc University College London

Harry is a political scientist who researches the effects of the Global Financial Crisis on democracies. His work seeks to understand how different democracies respond to systemic shocks, including through bailing out large financial institutions, seeking to make them more resilient to future shocks, and penalizing executives for reckless decisions. At Oxford, Harry teaches British politics, comparative government, and comparative political economy on the PPE degree program.

Dr. Marina Dolfin
The Oxford Experience | BA, PhD University of Messina, Doctoral researcher, King's College London

Marina teaches MATLAB courses at the graduate level at King's College in London. Her research explores the properties of resilience of an interbank network to systemic risks. Marina seeks to better understand the functioning of the banking system balancing between competitiveness and stability. Her analyses are aimed at exploiting the role of potential regulations in reducing systemic risks.

Day in the life of an Oxbridge student

Morning

Students and staff eat breakfast together to gear up for the day ahead. As the meal ends, everyone hurries off to their Major classes. For many, the classroom that day might be a local museum, a research lab, the market square, or a nearby park. Some days, the teacher's expertise is supplemented by discussions, workshops, and demonstrations by visiting guest speakers.

Midday

After the Major class, there is a brief lunch break. Students use this time to explore their neighborhood and discover places that tourists might miss: perhaps the artisan boulangerie just down the road, or the local deli two blocks over.

Afternoon

Three days a week, on all programs except the Oxford Seminars, there is a class or workshop in the afternoon. This offers students an opportunity to immerse themselves in a different course, or, in Cambridge, to delve deeper into their morning topic. After class, students are free and can choose from a wide variety of optional activities organized by the program staff.

From sports to concerts, museum visits to movie nights, guest lectures to talent shows, there are activities to suit all interests. There might be a visit to the Fitzwilliam Museum's exceptional collection in Cambridge, an ascent of the Eiffel Tower, or a trip to the beach in Barcelona. Students are also welcome to head out with friends and explore their new home for the summer, from famous landmarks to medieval byways.

Evening

In the evenings, the entire program once again comes together for a meal. Over dinner, stories are recounted, knowledge is shared, and plans are made for the coming days. After dinner, students can again choose between a full schedule of activities, laid on by the program teams, or relaxing with their new friends; the friendships they forge will endure long after the program has concluded.

Full-Day Field Trips

All programs also incorporate full-day excursions that expose students to important cultural and historical landmarks in the region. Depending on the program, students might have the opportunity to explore Stonehenge, London, Versailles, Sitges, and many more great cities and sights.

Sample day: Studying Medical Science on The Oxford Tradition

9:00-10:00 a.m.

Field trip to the John Radcliffe Hospital. Engage in a practical suturing session overseen by a surgeon.

10:00-11:15 a.m.

Guest doctors present their work and their specialties.

11:15 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Workshop on diagnostic techniques.

12:30-2:00 p.m.

Students go out in groups for lunch.

2:00-4:00 p.m.

Three afternoons a week, students attend their Minor class. They can choose from a wide variety of courses options, including:

- Creative Writing
- Engineering
- International Relations
- Neuropsychology
- Studio Art
- War in World History

4:00-6:00 p.m.

Optional Activities: Students are free for this two-hour block and, if they wish, can choose to participate activities such as:

- A visit of Christ Church College
- A tour of Oxford's Covered Market
- A tour of the Pitt Rivers Museum
- Punting on the Thames

6:00 p.m.

Dinner in residence

7:00-11:00 p.m.

Free time with optional activities that include Shakespeare plays, concerts, talent nights, coffee houses, TED talks, movie nights, or time for project work.

Experiences extending beyond the classroom

The Activities Program

Oxbridge provides more than exceptional academic opportunities. Every day, when students are not in class, they can pick and choose from a full calendar of cultural, sporting, and social activities that enable them to have fun with their friends while safely immersing themselves in Oxford, Cambridge, Paris, Barcelona, or New York. Besides the program-wide day trips, students exercise their independence by choosing what they want to do with their free time.

Students in Oxford can hear eminent speakers talk about their work or meet admissions personnel from different UK universities. They can also discover the colleges that make up the University, including the ones used in the Harry Potter movies. They visit the University's extraordinary libraries and museums: the Bodleian, Ashmolean, Pitt Rivers, and Natural History Museum. They can also participate in paint wars, coffee-houses, talent nights, and a sports program that includes yoga, basketball, and English sports such as rowing, cricket, tennis, soccer, and touch rugby.

From the Shakespeare Festival to a Cambridge United football match, the Duxford Air Show, and lecture series, Cambridge caters to all tastes. Students can visit King's College, discover the University's great collections, go punting on the River Cam, or take a stroll to Grantchester Meadows and the Orchard Tea Garden. They are also free to participate in sports, arts, and performances, with exciting options offered each day.

In Barcelona, our sports program includes soccer, yoga, fitness classes, and jogging, as well as outings to local beaches. There are daily expeditions around Barcelona. Students visit the old port, the Gothic church of Santa Maria del Mar, and the cultures and countercultures in El Raval. They marvel at the demonstrations of traditional dances and the gravity-defying castells, or human towers, a Catalan tradition; or they attend a concert at the Palau de la Música Catalana.

In Paris, athletically inclined students have access to an on-site sports hall. The picturesque Luxembourg Gardens, just next door, are ideal for jogging or just watching the world go by. Students can also practice yoga or aerobics in the school's dance studio. Our Activities Directors take students to the theater, the opera or a ballet, a local carnival, not to mention all the historic sites in the city. Recent activities have also included Sunday picnics in the park of a nearby château, an excursion to an artists' commune, workshops in a local boulangerie, a visit of the catacombs, as well as myriad visits to less well-known museums.

In New York, students can take part in trips to discover different universities in the city, use the Columbia University gym, play in Riverside Park's basketball, tennis, and soccer facilities, or take advantage of the wide-open spaces of Central Park. They might jog along the Hudson River pathway, play speed chess in the open air, taste different cuisines at Smorgasburg, or participate in games and tournaments with fellow students. Other options could include joining a staff member for an expert tour of New York's world-class museums, a stroll through Greenwich Village, SoHo, Little Italy, Chinatown, or a visit to the top of the Empire State Building or Rockefeller Center for truly spectacular views of Manhattan.

Accommodation and rooms

In Oxford, Cambridge, Barcelona, and New York, students live in rooms that are occupied by undergraduates during the year. In Paris, they live in a centrally located boarding school. Students are housed in singles or doubles. In Oxford and Cambridge, students can request a private bathroom (for a fee), on a first-come, first-served basis. In Barcelona, all rooms have private bathrooms. In Paris and New York, the rooms are dorm-style and have shared facilities.

Facilities: Students have access to common areas within the residences as well as a variety of sporting and educational facilities (gyms, basketball courts, tennis courts, pitches). The program staff maintains message boards and distributes mail every day.

Meals: Students enjoy breakfast and dinner in their residence's dining halls. Breakfast is primarily continental-style with choices such as cereal, yogurt, fruit, toast, coffee, and tea. Several options are available at dinner, including a vegetarian dish and a salad bar. Special dinners are regularly held and each program ends with a formal banquet. Oxbridge and the venues do their utmost to cater to all dietary needs. Students are responsible for their own lunch, which can be purchased from a college snack bar or one of the many sandwich shops, small restaurants, crêperies, patisseries, or boquerias near each residence.

“Our Creative Writing teacher was the most incredible teacher I’ve ever had. She was kind, engaging, and actually listened to us while still making sure everything was educational and about the subject.”

Student | Oxbridge Experience

Prioritizing health, safety, and well-being

Arrival and departure

Every student is met at the airport upon arrival and escorted to the residence. At the end of the program, students are accompanied to the airport where our staff oversee check-in and departure. A representative remains at the airport until all our students' flights have departed.

Safety and supervision

Our programs take place in secure residences, situated in safe neighborhoods, with 24-hour security.

Day-to-day life is overseen by a Program Director and Deans, professional educators from leading schools in the U.S., U.K., Canada, and Australia. Each program has a centrally-located office, which is open and staffed from before 8 a.m. until well past midnight, where students can seek advice or assistance. All students must check in every evening with the Deans on duty. The Program Director, Deans, and some members of faculty live in the residences, ensuring round-the-clock care and supervision. The rules about exploring the cities vary from program to program. Generally, students are free to discover the surrounding area in groups without adult supervision during the day and, in the programs for older students, in the evening. At other times, staff are available to accompany students.

Curfew

On the Oxford and Cambridge Experience programs, all students must check in with a Dean between 9 and 10 p.m. Program staff then perform bedroom checks at lights-out, which is at 11 p.m. On the other programs, students check in with the Deans between 10 and 11 p.m. They can then make use of the common areas, watch movies, or socialize quietly until midnight, when they are expected to be in their own rooms.

Medical emergencies

Every program has a Medical Officer. Oxbridge also has close relationships with doctors in each venue and with leading hospitals in the cities in which they take place. Through our parent organization, WorldStrides, we also provide around-the-clock access to a U.S.-based doctor for phone consultations.

Zero-tolerance policy

All students accepted into our programs, even those who may be of legal age in the country of their program, must sign an agreement not to purchase, possess, or consume alcohol or drugs, or associate with any student who does. Any student found in violation of this policy will be expelled immediately and sent home at the family's expense.

Oxbridge is dedicated to the well-being of our participants. Over the past 40 years, we have learned how to establish a nurturing, supervised environment that provides peace-of-mind for families and ensures our students feel safe and comfortable.

“I enjoyed this course so much! It was challenging but my teacher made it so fun and interesting and my classmates were amazing! I love this class so much and I am so sad that it has come to an end.”

The Oxford Experience takes place in Corpus Christi College, which was founded in 1517. Early visitors included Catherine of Aragon and Erasmus of Rotterdam. College President John Rainolds led the scholars who produced the King James Bible in 1611. Corpus is located on a quiet street in the medieval center of Oxford. Students choose a Major and a Minor for the month and, outside class, have access to a host of activities, such as attending Shakespeare plays, playing Quidditch, touring world-famous museums, or visiting the many local sites that witnessed pivotal events in British and world history. They also go on two program-wide field trips: one to London and the other to an historic site such as Stonehenge, Bath, or Blenheim.

Our oldest program, established in 1986, the Oxford Tradition is housed in Pembroke College, which was founded in 1624, by King James I. Its alumni include American Senator J. William Fulbright, Sir Roger Bannister, and Samuel Johnson. Students choose a Major and a Minor for the month and, when not in class, discover Oxford, taking in sites such as Christ Church or the world-famous Bodleian, attending plays, or trying a staple of undergraduate life by punting on the river. There is a full sports program, during which they can take part in rowing, cricket, or rugby. Additionally, students learn about applying to British universities from admissions officers and attend talks on a wide range of important topics, delivered by renowned experts.

 Barnard College
Columbia University

Oxbridge in New York takes place at Barnard College, an independent liberal arts college established in 1889 and affiliated with Columbia University since 1900. Students choose a Major and a Workshop for the month while exploring New York—courses take full advantage of the museums, advertising firms, hedge funds, and shows that make the city so famous. In their free time, they can go to a Major League baseball game, a Broadway show, Coney Island, or take part in a program of college visits and a college fair. When not studying or discovering world-famous sites, they can grab a bite in the Diana Center café, enjoy the Columbia University gym, or relax with friends in the common rooms and on the lawns. The surrounding neighborhood features many shops, restaurants, cafés, and parks, including of course Central Park.

The perfect add-on to your Oxbridge program, the Paris Connection offers four or six days of fun exploration of the City of Lights. Stay in the Marais, a beautiful and fashionable historic district on the Rive Droite, and peruse the city's art galleries, cafés, and boutiques. Eat delicious, traditional cuisine, learn about the culture, visit different quartiers, including Montmartre, enjoy expert tours of internationally renowned sites, and much more.

The 2025 Paris Connection is available to add to the following programs:

Oxford Tradition: August 1 - August 7

Oxford Experience: July 31 - August 4

Oxbridge in Barcelona: July 31 - August 4

Cambridge Tradition: August 7 - August 13

Cambridge Experience: August 8 - August 12

NOTE: To reserve a spot, please include a deposit of $500 US at the time of the initial application. Students should book their flight home from Paris Charles de Gaulle or Orly airports on the last day of their program's Connection.

The length of the Paris Connection is dependent upon the student's Oxbridge program. Please visit our website for details.*

“I had such a fun time in this course! I was rather intimidated in the beginning, but I found this course helped me feel excited, but also still challenged me. The group was also incredibly friendly, and I’ve made great friends! This has been such a wonderful experience overall.”

Applying to an Oxbridge program

Oxbridge programs are designed for academically minded students and require a complete application to be submitted and approved prior to enrollment. With the exceptions of the language-immersion courses in Paris and Barcelona, courses are taught in English and therefore require students to be fluent in that language.

As part of your online application, you will need to submit:

- Your deposit;
- Your personal statement (approximately 500 words). Tell us why you would like to attend, what interests you about the Major and Minor/Workshop courses you hope to pursue and what you will contribute to the program. Please share your academic and extracurricular interests or anything else that will help us to get to know you. Students applying for courses in France or Spain that include a language-immersion component should write their personal statement in English and provide an additional writing sample in French or Spanish;
- Contact information for a teacher who is willing to serve as your reference, in case our Admissions Team has questions about your application. If applying for a French or Spanish immersion course, please provide your language teacher's contact details;
- A copy of your most recent school transcript or report card;
- Your Major and Minor/Workshop course preferences.

Application review and decision notification

Once we receive your complete application, our Admissions Team will review it and you will receive your admissions decision – either acceptance or denial – within three weeks. Your application deposit will be fully refunded if you are not accepted onto your desired Oxbridge program. If admitted, you will receive confirmation of your course placement from our team within a few weeks.

Tuition information

Scholarships

Oxbridge awards both full and partial scholarships to ensure qualified students from a variety of backgrounds may participate. Scholarships are based on financial need, the student's academic and extracurricular record, and other scholarship-specific requirements. The scholarship application process is open to all students in grades 8-11 who have not previously participated in an Oxbridge program.

The scholarship application process is separate from the normal application process, so students applying for a scholarship must use the scholarship application at oxbridgeprograms.com/tuition-and-payments.

Payment Plans

Oxbridge offers convenient, monthly payment plans upon your acceptance to a program. You can elect to take advantage of this option during the enrollment process.

Additional information

Course Selection

Some classes fill very quickly, so we recommend that students apply as early as possible to secure their place in the course of their interest. Students will be placed in classes according to their preference and course size. In the case of language classes, students' language level will also be considered. Some courses are subject to additional fees for materials. Please see the complete course descriptions on our website for details.

Program Inclusions

Our comprehensive tuition includes all costs related to instruction, accommodation, daily breakfasts and dinners, transportation to and from the airport, all books and classroom materials, guest presentations, field trips, and all activities organized by the program, including sports, museum and gallery admissions, and theater tickets.

It does not include airfare, lunch, select materials and lab fees, or personal expenditures, such as snacks, laundry, souvenirs, and so on.

GLOBAL STABILITY, SCALE, AND RELATIONSHIPS

Having led trips for millions of students over our 57-year history, WorldStrides is the most widely recognized and most trusted student travel organization in the country. We've got the staff and partnerships to pivot on a dime and make any real-time program adjustments when necessary, so you can feel confident and covered, every moment of your trip. Our close relationships with universities and colleges around the world create immersive learning environments that build on students' natural curiosity while encouraging them to grow both personally and professionally.

UNMATCHED SAFETY SERVICES

Our 24/7/365 WorldAssist hotline puts live help just a phone call away. It's staffed with trained and responsive WorldStrides personnel at all times. Additionally, our Doctors on Call medical support service is administered through our exclusive relationship with The George Washington University Medical Faculty Associates (GWMFA) providing 24/7 access to medical care for all students. Plus, our dedicated in-house Health and Safety team relies on a rich network of international partners and exhibits a "do-what-it-takes" commitment to responding to whatever the world hands out.

EXPANDED PROGRAM OFFERINGS

Each student's journey is different, which is why WorldStrides offers a broad range of program categories, including educational travel, language immersion, career exploration, study abroad, service-learning, sports, and performing arts travel. From teacher-led group tours to programs for individuals on university campuses, each experience helps students see beyond the classroom and experience the world—and themselves—in new ways.

“As parents of a student who participated last July, we want to thank you and the entire Oxford Tradition team for the beautiful and unparalleled experience that she has lived with you and her classmates, many of them now friends. She has returned home happy, perhaps more mature and independent but above all with the desire to go for more... more study, more adventures, more friends, more experiences and growth.”
